"Best Deer Hunting
in Ontario Canada"

The Surrounding Area

Black's Bay Hunting & Fishing Camp is a 113 acre hunting resort located on the south shore of Lake Huron, just west of Providence Bay, Manitoulin Island, Ontario Canada (North end of Lake Huron). Providence Bay, a town of 300, has a new marina and government dock, fishing charters, 3 restaurants, hardware store, auto mechanic, and motel.

The hunt camp is in the middle of a 2000 acre wilderness tract of cedar, birch, and poplar forest. Little development has occurred in this area since a forest fire occurred 100 years ago. The forest has regenerated and is entering a mature phase. Large areas of dense bush are dotted by numerous open meadows with lush green grass. Generally flat, there are some swampy areas where the deer like to hide & bed down during the day.

During the spring, summer, & fall, the deer find plentiful food around the edges of the meadows, the adjacent swamp areas, the nearby farmer's fields of clover & hay, and the buds on the new annual growth. There are few wolves on the Island. Without the annual hunt, many of the deer would starve & die as the winter food supply runs out; the rest of the herd being severely weakened as well. Hunting in the fall helps strengthen the herd by reducing the pressure on the limited winter food supply.

Your hunting guide has owned & hunted this land for the past 23 years and knows it well. There are no growth hormones nor drugs in this food supply. That's why I prefer venison.

Your Host & Hunting Guide,
Glenn Black

The Hunting Zone

The 113 acre hunting area is located off an unopened Concession gravel road about 2 km. from Providence Bay. This road is only used by the local landowners and wildlife.

A winding bush road leads off the concession road, travelling 1.2 km. towards the waterfront. The deer now use this bush road as one of their main trails through the woods.

Along the length of this bush road are a number of feeding stations for the general wildlife. Salt blocks, apples, corn, and other vegetables have been regularly put out throughout the year. The feeding frequency is increased as deer season approaches.

There are 3 elevated tree stands, and 2 platforms for ensuring excellent shots & avoiding detection.

A 1 acre food plot was plowed, tilled, & seeded with clover, buckwheat, turnip, and soybeans.

The survey lines and trails throughout the property provide excellent opportunities for getting a good shot.

This is WMU 43B and has traditionally had a 99%+ chance of all hunters getting a doe tag.

The Hunt Camp

The hunt camp consists of a main lodge, a 14' trailer, generator shed, pump house, wood shed, outdoor shower & solar heater, utility & storage shed, apple orchard, outdoor fireplace, and outhouse.

The electrical 4.0 kilowatt generator supplies 110V AC to the main lodge and the 14' trailer. The system is started up "as needed", and usually run each evening.

The cottage is equipped with a 125 ft. well drilled in 2003. The well water is passed through a 3 stage filtration system (30 μ , 20 μ , activated charcoal, and finally a 5 μ high capacity polishing filter), then treated with sodium hypochlorite (chlorine) and tested. The water line from the well is underground with 6" of styrofoam insulation and electric tracing; guaranteeing freeze-proof water supply to the cottage in -40 ° C weather.

The cottage has vinyl siding & 1" of Styrofoam insulation, a large wood stove, and 30 ft. of bare stovepipe; keeping the cottage piping warm in the coldest weather.

The woodshed holds a full 2 long cords of hardwood to keep the stove going throughout the hunting trip.

The outdoor fireplace is designed for cooking as well as a bonfire pit. Sitting around the fire on a cold autumn day takes off the chill, as well as getting the hunting clothes nice and smokey (good odour camouflage against the deer's sensitive nose).

As backup, the outhouse is a basic one seater, well ventilated to minimize odours, and within 100 feet of the lodge.

Your hunting guide/host/cook will assist in preparation of most meals, but each camp member will be expected to prepare their personal favorites for one breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Be sure to let us know any special ingredients, food allergies, restrictions, etc. that you'll be needing so we can be sure to adjust our shopping list.

Black's Bay Hunting & Fishing Camp, Main Lodge

The Hunting Lodge

The main lodge is a 2½ story, 1,400 sq. ft. wood frame construction. The 12' x 12' kitchen includes full cupboards and countertops, a fridge, stove/oven, microwave, and sink with running water. The 20' x 16' common area serves as the dining and meeting area with a large wood stove. Many a good hunting story has been shared by the light & heat of this stove.

The cottage is equipped with a 4 pc. bathroom (tub, shower, toilet, & sink) with a 50 USG hot water heater. The second floor of the lodge is used as the sleeping quarters. There are 5 bedrooms with 6 bunk beds (double bed size) for a sleeping capacity of 12 with lots of space for each person's clothes, hunting gear, and quiet spot. It is expected that you will bring your own sleeping bag, extra blankets, sheets and pillows. The third floor is for additional sleep areas (those who snore!), utility rooms, and observation deck. There is a great view across the treetops, as well as overlooking the Lake Huron shoreline.

The lodge is kept toasty warm by the propane lights and the big wood stove during the day. The interior walls & paneling are in the process of being finished.

A cell phone and high-gain roof antenna is available for emergencies & "pay-as-you-go" use.
